

Below is a post at a blog site or email from a retired LAPD cop. His story supports what was leaked from the closed door session of Congress on the surveillance bill a few months ago. It is very disconcerting, but should be taken seriously I think in light of certain events of late.

Originally Posted by LAPD77 on July 19, 2008

Hi all,

This might be the last thing I ever post on here but I need to warn you all. I have been with LAPD for a while and have learned alot of things. One of them is to be a little more independent. Don't put 100% faith in other humans to take care of you. And yes that means the government too.

Well because things have gotten so bad in LA (Officers being shot at up 39% in 2007) I decided to move to Idaho. I love it by the way. Anyway what I'm going to say might shock you or even scare you, but please understand that fear does nothing but makes things worse kinda like stress. So instead of worrying do something to fix it. Remember there's no problems only solutions.

This morning I got a call from my uncle who is very high up in the military and he told me to leave the city now. I hardly ever talk to him so he was unaware that I had already left LA. But he seemed very concerned but refused to tell me why. After about 20 minutes he told me the very basics. The first thing he said was to buy as much canned food and water as possible. The second was to stock up on ammo. I have already stacked up on ammo because I knew it would become very expensive later and in LA there was a 1 year wait for .223 bullets for my AR15. But I was still very confused as to why he's calling out of the blue and telling me these things.

Well what he said next is something the American people aren't suppose to know. He told me that there is an actual plan as to when the economy will completely crash. He said that Mexico and Canada will merge with us and that a new dollar called the Amero is going to replace the dollar.

But the most scary thing is what he told me he's been doing for the past couple of years. He's been overseeing the construction of Prison Camps being built all through out America. He said a Private company called Haliburton is building them. He told me that 1 camp in Alaska can hold 2 million people and there's almost 1000 camps in the USA. (not including the ones underground) He also said that these will be used when they declare Martial Law.

There's some more things but I promised him I would never repeat them. But just knowing that this could even be possible makes me say to myself "why not buy an extra 20 or 30 bucks of food I can store" each time I go shopping. I had about 2 weeks worth because in California you never know when that next big earthquake can hit not to mention the last year and a half we have been training on how to handle food riots in LA. (By the way the first step in the LAPD process is to stand back and observe) Crazy Huh.

Well use common sense and get what you can because once everyone wakes up it will be to

LAPD Cop Warns of Future Events

Thursday, 31 July 2008 09:20

---

late. Last but not least why I believe him is because he is the same one that told me beforehand not to fly in Aug. and Sept. of 2001. Do I have to go on?

Take care everyone and GOD Bless!!